THE NEW ERA.

Confidence Restored and an Awakening of Business and the Spirit of Improvement and Progress.

The seat of government, by law, precedent, justice and the will of the people repeatedly expressed in the councils of State, is permanently located in Frankfort, and from this time forward there may be expected a substantial value to property that will give an impetus to business and the general improvement and development of the city.

Capital removal agitation will no longer cause the merchants to experience a decline of trade or enterprising people with money to fear to make investments here in real or joint stock property, and the citizens should now lend a hearty co-operation to the city council in their laudable efforts to take hold of public improvements, and by their prompt action upon new or remedial measures looking to the cleanliness, comfort and beauty of the city, show that Frankfort is not deserving of the approbrium of a "run down at the heel kind of town" which the advocates of capital removal have for years been spreading broadcast over the State. A senator remarked the other day that he did not believe the State would ever be willing to build a handsome State House in this city because the general appearance of Frankfort in its rough, badly kept pavements and dirty unpainted houses and irregular, broken fences showed a lack-a-daisical-good-enough-for-me-kind of spirit that would ill harmonize with the expenditure of two millions of dollars. Another said there were more generous, refined and cultured people here to the population than any place he knew of in the State, but they gave evidence, in the condition of their city and homes, that they had spent so much time and money in retaining the capital there was none left to devote to improving public or private property.

With the new era then fairly upon the city, with confidence restored in all classes of trade and property, there should be awakened such a spirit of activity and progress as will within the next few years show a marked transformation and prove the assertion of Frankfort's friends that with the settlement of the capital question there would follow such a change in the appearance of the city as would cause her most relentless foes to admit the beauty and suitability of this city for the location and building of an elegant State House.

Teachers, Attention.

The examination of persons wishing to teach in the public schools of the county will be held at the office of County Superintendent, Thomas
Hunter, on the first Friday in July.

Are you insured? If not, now is the time to provide yourself and family with a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as an insurance against any serious results from an attack of bowel complaint during the summer months.
It is almost certain to be needed and should be procured at once. No other remedy can take its place or do its work. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by J. W. Gayle. 39-1m.

St. Clair Street Bridge.

About sixty bids were received by the Bridge Committee for the work to be done on a new bridge across the Kentucky river at St. Clair street.
They were opened Monday but involved a great deal of calculation and knowledge of engineering to determine which is really the lowest and best bid. The amounts range all the way, it is said, from $30,000 to $70,000 and as the committee did not feel themselves competent to let the work without professional advice and assistance, Mr. Nelson, a civil engineer of Lexington, was employed under the resolution of the city council introduced by Mr. J. E. Miles.
Mr. Nelson will be ready to report about next Monday the result of his study of the plans and specifications and bids thereon, and the contract will be made at once and the work put under way at the earliest possible moment.

Under the Car.

As a street car was coming down the grade on Shelby street Tuesday afternoon one of the mules attached to the same stumbled and fell, and before the driver could stop the car it ran clear up on top of the poor brute. The other mule had to be attached to the rear of the car to pull it off of the unfortunate animal while several persons, who saw the accident, shoved his legs under the car to keep the wheels from passing over them. When he was gotten up it was found that one leg was badly skinned and one flank cut.

Matrimonial.

FORSTER-CANNON — Miss Cordie Cannon, formerly of this city, will be married next Wednesday to Mr. John Forster, of Louisville. It will be a quiet home wedding at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. John P. Starks, in Louisville, and none but relatives and a few intimate friends will be expected. After the ceremony the couple will go to Chicago for a month, and then return to Louisville and board at Mrs. Bonnycastle's. Mr. Forster is the bookkeeper for the Louisville Gas Company, and is said to be a young man of fine character and habits. The bride-elect is the youngest daughter of Capt. John Cannon, deceased, the owner of the famous Mississippi river steamboats Robert E. Lee and John Cannon, and until two years ago when, with her mother, she removed to Louisville, she was a much-admired favorite in society in this city. She is a lovely young lady, polite, graceful and pretty, both in face and figure, and her numerous friends here wish her all the joy attending such a happy event.

CROMWELL-JESSEE — Invitations were received in this city this week, announcing that Miss Elizabeth Pryor Jesse, daughter of Col. and Mrs. George M. Jesse, of New Castle, Ky., would be married to Mr. Wm. Cromwell, of this city, Asst. Clerk of the State Senate, the ceremony to take place at the Christian Church in New Castle next Thursday afternoon at two o'clock.

HANDY-WOOD — A license to marry was granted Wednesday to Neal Handy and Narcissa Wood, colored, of this county.

UPDIKE-WARFIELD — Sunday at the residence of Mr. Thos. Clarke, by Rev. Lazarus W. P. Huette, Mr. Peter Updike to Miss Mary Warfield.

LOUISVILLE SORE.

WILLSON WAILS AND BOWDEN BAWLS

Fraud and Corruption.

We have noticed that when a fellow undertakes to explain why his nine failed to win a base ball game he always finds it necessary to cuss the umpire for making rank decisions and accuse the opposing nine of dirty ball playing—seldom giving the true reason, viz: that the other fellows made the most scores.

Last week our ancient enemies, Louisville and Lexington, thought they had everything in readiness for the removal of the capital from our little hill-framed city, and started in to do us up in great shape, but when the final struggle came they were sent to grass so suddenly that it required several days for the lobbyists who came here to look after Louisville's interest to pull themselves together and collect their scattered senses. When they finally did recover from their surprise they were not honest enough to admit that they had underestimated the strength of the little giant, and had been tripped up and given the hardest fall of their lives, but began to play the baby act and cry fraud and corruption.

The Hon. Augustus Excalibur Willson, whose magnetic presence in this city was expected to turn the tide in Louisville's favor; Angus Allmond, a curled darling of the Commercial Club, and Marmaduke Brown Bowden, a briefless lawyer, who possesses an elegant fog-horn voice and an inordinate love of using the same, have told pitiful tales to the Louisville papers of the fraud and corruption practiced by Frankfort in order to retain the capital; and last but not least, Albert Charlton, a member of the Legislature from one of the Louisville districts, had himself interviewed and sang a little song about his brother members selling out, saying he himself was "approached by a prominent official" of this city.

Mr. Willson says money was paid members to vote for Frankfort, the money being wrapped in newspaper and the paper given a "peculiar twist at the end," but he fails to state which eye the Frankfort man winked when presenting the potent package. He says he knows this to be true but can't prove it. Being a lawyer he should also know that unless a man can prove his statements he had best keep silence. The Hon. Gussie also said that "Louisville made an honest, open fight" and did not use a single dollar, so far as he knew, to influence votes. If this be true, what did a prominent merchant on Fourth street in Louisville and a member of the Commercial Club mean when he told the ROUNDABOUT, on the very day the vote was taken in the House, that the whole d—n Legislature was for sale and Louisville would buy enough votes to get the capital? That a corruption fund was raised by the Commercial Club is evident from the remark above quoted.

Angus Allmond also claims that Frankfort behaved badly and practiced fraud and corruption, and in this connection one might paraphrase the words of Lord Marmon and say: "If thou satest that Frankfort is not the peer of any city far or near, Lord Angus, thou hast lied."

But Duke Bowden, poor fellow, like a boy who held a bird in his hand and let it escape, is terribly torn up. He got himself elected to the Presidency of the Commercial Club upon the platform of remove the capital to Louisville or burst a hame string, and when the blow fell it broke his heart. Nothing less than an amendment to the Constitution, removing the seat of government to the Falls City, will now passify him.

As for Charlton, the idea of anyone wanting to buy him, unless it was to give him away immediately, is too ridiculous to talk about. His chapter in the Louisville Times about his brother members caused a resolution to be passed by the House calling upon him to return here and explain his language, and when he does come a very large sized breeze is likely to meander through his elegant nut-chop whiskers.

Like Mr. Willson, in reference to his own city, the ROUNDABOUT does not know that a single dollar was used by Frankfort to influence votes, and it will require better authority than a gang of disappointed Louisville lobbyists to convince us or the world at large that their victory was bought on Thursday of last week. When Messrs. Willson, Bowden and others can prove that their campaign after the capital was pitched upon a highly moral plane, and that the methods used in the effort to pass the Louisville charter over the Governor's veto were altogether legitimate, then they may shout bribery at Frankfort, but in the meantime they had best step over to French Lick and soak their heads.

THE ROLL OF HONOR.

Names Not Omitted Purposely, but Crowded Out of Memory By Overflowing Joy.

Since the article in the last issue of this paper on the matter of the vote on the capital removal question appeared an anonymous communication was received by the editor, stating substantially that there were many others than those mentioned in the article who were equally entitled to credit for their efforts in behalf of Frankfort.

There can be no grounds whatever for hesitation on that point, and it was not the intention of the ROUNDABOUT to make any invidious distinction in particularizing a few legislators and citizens. The roll of honor was too long for publication, and all citizens who were alike interested in the issue can readily appreciate the condition of exuberant joy that crowded out of the memory more than half the names of those most prominently engaged in the cause. To attempt a complete list of the names of both legislators and citizens now, with timely warning of the communication noted, would be flying in the face of Providence, but whether all are published or not it is safe to say their gratification over a good work, happily accomplished, is a far better and more satisfying reward than a dozen compliments in a newspaper.

"Put Money in Thy Purse."

How? Save doctor's bills. Always keep on hand a bottle of that finest of remedies, Dr. Hale's Household Cough Cure to allay the first irritation caused by a cold. Don't think you can fix up something just as good when for five or six years you can have the result of years of practice and experience expended in making this preparation absolutely the best. LOCAL.

THE TWO BOSS.—The Courier-Journal of Friday of last week contained the following news item of interest to the people here. Mr. Stockton, of Nashville, being a brother of Mrs. Clough Overton, of Louisville, formerly Miss Lucy Stockton, of this city, and Miss Macklin, a daughter of the late John Macklin of this county: Richmond, Ky., June 15.—(Special.)—Robert C. Stockton, of Nashville, Tenn., was in Richmond yesterday and related a singular coincidence. Soon after his arrival here—his first visit—he heard of Kansas City, Mo., of this place, and proceeded to hunt him up. On comparing notes they discovered, although never having previously heard of each other, that they were second cousins, and were exactly the same age; not only this, but they were married at the same hour of the same day of the same month and year. The records show that Robert C. Stockton, of Richmond, was married to Miss Maggie Stockton, of Nashville, Tennessee, November 14, 1893, at noon, and that on the same day in the same year and at the same hour Mr. Robert C. Stockton, of Louisville, was married to Miss Sallie B. Macklin, of Franklin county, Ky.

CONVICT ESCAPED.—Early Saturday morning, Joe Love, a white convict from Louisville, in charge of the electric lights at the penitentiary, fled from his post of duty and is yet at large. He stole a suit of clothes from Warden Norman's residence before he bade adieu to Frankfort.

HIS FORMER POSITION.—Capt. Thos. C. Jones, of this city, received his piece of Government pie Thursday. He was appointed to the consulate at Funah, in the Madeira Islands, which he held under President Cleveland's former administration. The place pays $1,500 and is especially desirable because of the delightful climate. Capt. Jones is a gentleman of ability and experience and his re-instatement will no doubt call forth as much pleasure in Funah as it has among his wide circle of friends in Kentucky.

THE HAWAIIAN MISSION.—Though no official announcement was made it was stated this week that ex-Gov. Knott, of this city, had been tendered the mission to the Hawaiian Islands. Under the peculiar political state of affairs in that country at this time, requiring profound statesmanship on the part of the minister from the United States, the compliment of the President's choice was properly bestowed upon the distinguished ex-Governor, who is acknowledged to be one of the best equipped men in the country to discharge such high and important duties. His law practice, however, and his own and his wife's health are matters that will cause him to decline the offer of the mission and within the next few days, it is said, he will accordingly write to the President.

A NEW SCHOOL.—It is said that Prof. Ben Harvey, of Louisville, a well-known educator in the State, will open a school in this city this fall to prepare young men for college.

FIRE TUESDAY NIGHT.—A fire Tuesday night, originating in the pantry of the house on Main street, between Cross and Third streets, occupied by Mr. C. M. Berryman and belonging to Mrs. John W. McEwan, destroyed the rear end of the house and a good part of Mr. Berryman's furniture. As Mr. Berryman's wife was absent from the city and there had been no cooking in the kitchen for several days, the origin of the fire is a mystery. Mr. Berryman had no insurance on his furniture, but Mrs. McEwan carried a policy of $800 on her house, about one half of which amount will cover her loss.

CLOSING EXERCISES.—The closing exercises of St. Joseph's Academy at the Opera House on Monday night, attracted a very large audience. Each feature of the programme was splendidly rendered, as well as the drama "The Way of Providence," which elicited frequent tributes of applause.

COL. THOMAS CORBETT.—The Washington City dispatches say that Col. Thomas Corbett, of this city, clerk at the penitentiary, will receive a letter this week writing him to come and accept a good place in the Interior Department, perhaps an Indian Agency.

MR. ROBERT BURNS WILSON.—During this week, at Judge Craddock's house, on the South Side, formerly occupied by Mr. Philip Carpenter, Mr. Robert Burns Wilson has had on display about seventy-five splendid specimens of his genius in water colors, consisting of landscapes and marine views. Many of the pictures, in the after-glow of a sunset, bear the mark of a master colorist who is certain to achieve a reputation in this particular direction of his powers that is alone sufficient to fix a high value upon his work. There was a sale of a number of the pictures last night, but to-night, beginning at eight o'clock, it is expected that a large crowd will be present at the disposal of the rest, included in which are some of the artist's best efforts.

THE UNITED STATES COURT.—The case of Wm. Bright, of Lexington, ex-cashier of the National Exchange Bank of that city, who, with Gilmore, the teller, and Cheppan, the book-maker, was indicted for false entries on the books of the bank, whereby more than $30,000 was overdrawn on certain accounts, has exclusively engaged the time of the United States Court since last Thursday. It will probably be given to the jury to-day. The other cases on the docket, by reason of the necessity of Judge Barr to hold court next Monday in Owensboro, were continued until the next term of this court in January, 1894.

Births.

BRADLEY.—Friday night of last week to the wife of Mr. Wm. E. Bradley—a son.

SHINGLETON.—In this county, on Saturday, June 23, 1893, to Mr. A. J. Shingleton and wife, a daughter; weight 10½ pounds.

TODD.—In this city, on Tuesday, June 20, 1893, to Mr. John R. Todd and wife, a son; weight 5 pounds.

All women who are overworked, "run down," or debilitated, need just one medicine—and that is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It's a broad statement, but facts bear it out. These are the facts:

If you're a weak and delicate woman, then the "Favorite Prescription" builds you up; if you suffer from any of the painful disorders and derangements peculiar to your sex, it relieves and cures. It invigorates the system, improves digestion, enriches the blood, dispels acidity, brings refreshing sleep, and restores health and strength. All the chronic weaknesses, irregularities, and disturbances known as "female complaints" are completely and permanently cured by it. These are facts, and they're strong enough to warrant the makers in guaranteeing their remedy. If it fails to build or cure, you have your money back. No other medicine for women is sold on such terms. That proves that nothing else can be "just as good."

W. E. BAXTER, M. D.

After Study and an Examination Has the Degree of Medicine Conferred Upon Him.

Dr. W. E. Baxter, who was in Louisville this week attending the commencement exercises of the Dental Department of the Central University, of which he is a member of the faculty, returned home to resume, uninterruptedly, the practice of his profession of dentistry in this city, with an added laurel to his equipment, a certificate of graduation in medicine, which the Medical Faculty of the University, after a rigid examination, deemed him competent to wear. Dr. Baxter applied himself to the study of medicine partly as a means of occupying his leisure time while not engaged in his office duties or in demonstrating before the school, and also that he might the more thoroughly qualify himself to practice a profession of which dentistry is a specialty.

The degree of M. D. is an honor which not only evidences the development of Dr. Baxter's powers in the line of his profession, but also indicates the high mark of success which he has fixed for his ambition to attain.

Dr. M. J. Davis is a prominent physician of Lewis, Cass county, Iowa, and has been actively engaged in the practice of medicine at that place for the past thirty-five years. On the 26th of May, while in Des Moines, en route to Chicago, he was suddenly taken with an attack of diarrhea. Having sold Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for the past seventeen years, and knowing its reliability, he procured a 25 cent bottle, two doses of which completely cured him. The excitement and change of water and diet incident to traveling often produce a diarrhea. Everyone should procure a bottle of this remedy before leaving home. For sale by J. W. Gayle. 39-1m.

S. Harris will sell you a good brown cotton at 5 cents a yard; a good check cotton at 5 cents a yard, and a good calico cotton at 5 cents a yard. Our stock of China silks, fancy Gingham, Crepe, Cloth and Challies is complete. 39-1f.

THE COLUMBIAN FAIR.

Full of Foreign Attractions, the Midway Plaisance a Wide Field for a Liberal Education.

All Things Must End and This Serial Letter is no Exception to the Rule.

CHAPTER THE THIRD.

When I was at the World's Fair the first week in this month, there were many buildings and displays in a very incomplete state, which I did not get to see and have passed without a mention. The French, German and Austrian buildings, in the main grounds, are filled with interesting works of art and other products of those nations, and the convent of La Rabida, an exact reproduction of the convent at which Columbus stopped for the night just as he was about to leave from San Domingo. The tiny hawk bells, for which the natives would part with their gold and other valuable articles, are also exposed to view in the building, and the hundreds of other reminders of Columbus and the aborigines of the islands of San Salvador, Cuba and Haiti, are to be seen in the fascinating pages of Irving's "Columbus," exercise a magical power over the minds of the beholders, who, many a time, point backward into time four centuries, to hear the wonderful story told to Ferdinand and Isabella of the fruits of the perilous voyage of the Nina, Pinta and Santa Maria.

But I must leave the Fair grounds and go down the long street, projecting from the side, the Midway Plaisance, along the right and left hand of which are novel attractions from a large number of foreign nations, that open to the inquiring mind a field for education that nothing short of several thousand dollars and years of travel can equal. Within the past week, many the Midway Plaisance to which the daily papers are devoting much space have been opened to the public, but as I have not been to remain from a description. For instance I did not get to see the Dahomey Village, the Dutch East India Village, the German Village, the Town of Medieval Times, the Algerian Village and theatre and others of the kind. The captive balloon, which ascends to a height of 1,500 feet and costs $2.00 for a trip, and the great Vertical Revolving Wheel, 250 feet in diameter, for which there is a charge of fifty cents for a ride of two round trips, were not in operation then.

Entering the Plaisance, the visitor is impressed at once with the whole foreign scene. On one side may be observed a Chinese pagoda and on the other a Turkish mosque with its blue cupola, which, with the houses of peculiar design that line the street together with the passing of sedan chairs or palanquins, camels, donkeys and hundreds of native Chinese, Japanese, Turks, Arabs, Southerners, East Indians, Irish, Germans, Egyptians and other class of foreigners in the costumes of their lands, swiftly carry the imagination to the Eastern continent, where Peking, Tokio, Allahabad, Constantinople, Damascus, Bagdad and Cairo are each in turn paid a visit.

Our party of editors were first taken to the glass factory in operation by the Venetians where we witnessed the making of fine Venetian and Florentine wares. In the Irish Village in which there is a faithful reproduction of Blarney Castle as it appears in its ruins, the native Irish have on exhibition and for sale a great deal of the products of the Emerald Isle. The Arabs have a palace of Damascus in which there is a fountain of more than 400 years of age. In one end is shown the furniture of modern use and in the other the furniture of the ancient period.

Across the yard from this palace is a kind of stable or open shed in which dwell a dozen or more black, hideous visaged Southerners. One of the women had an infant a few months old which was an interesting feature of the visit to the ladies of our party, who stood at a distance from the male members of the African tribe that a few years ago shed a large quantity of England's best blood.

A cyclorama of the Bernese Alps and one of the volcano of Mount Kilimanjaro in the Sandwich Islands were next visited and enjoyed, by which time it was close to the hour for mid-day luncheon which we agreed to take in a beer and concert garden in "Alt Wien," or a street in Old Vienna. The street is lined with shops and cafes kept by native Viennese, and during the time we were there a Maennerchor Society sang and played as could be heard rehearsing while an accordion in another, closer at hand, was varying the sounds of the clinking beer glasses and the tongues of the German waiter girls, calling out "zwei beer and pretzels" by wheezing one of Strauss' waltzes. As we were about to leave "Alt Wien" we sang "The Old Kentucky Home" and received an encore from the Viennese who had come out of their cafes, pie shops, stores and gardens to listen to us.

We then visited various smaller shows, one being a large model of the church of St. Peter at Rome, in the room of which are a number of interesting objects, among them a Papal bull and a chair from the Vatican in which Pope Leo frequently sits. A building styled "The Congress of the Fair" was spheical in form and contained on platforms around the room, the most interesting types of a woman-kind from forty nations of the earth. Each woman was attired in the costume of her country, the most beautiful and the figure of the young lady representing the United States so much surpassed the charms of the rest of the women, that when the division allotted to her and having the American flag for a background was reached, the whole party involuntarily paid her the homage of applause. Her cheeks at this display of praise suffused with blushes, which made her appear the incarnation of beauty and modesty and caused a number of the editorial party to vow that they would smile of pleasure at the demonstration was a more exquisite delight to them than their successful rubbing of the valuable rabbit's foot on a hard-hearted door-keeper.

The Moorish Palace has much to detain visitors for hours. The first floor contains a labyrinth so cunningly arranged with mirrors that it is almost impossible to keep from walking through glass at every step. The devil and his imp, in all their horrible, horn and hoofed majesty, hold their court here in a seething lake of fire and brimstone. In a room of curiosities in wax may be seen life-like figures of the reigning sovereigns and prominent nobility of Europe, the reproduction of the theatre box scene and assassination of President Lincoln, the wounded zouave who breathes and opens his eyes at intervals in his dying moments, and many other novel and historical figures and groups.

The one most interesting visit, however, to me was the "Street in Cairo." The gate was closed when we appeared before it, and it was necessary to wait until Robert Morningstar, of Bowling Green, who had gone ahead, could return and report the result of his request to the representative of the Khedive, in charge of the Egyptian people there. Presently the gate opened and a native in a picturesque costume, astride a camel and beating with his fingers a lily-shaped drum, transported me into the land of the Pharaohs, Cleopatra and the Arabian Nights. On the inside, a party of natives having camels and donkeys had gathered to greet us, and to make their animals an attraction at fifty cents an hour for a donkey or twenty-five cents a ride through the street on a camel, had tendered the free use of a donkey to Morningstar, whose feet dragged the ground, as he rode at the head of our column and to the right of the drummer on the camel whose rub-ba-bubs had neither sound of time or music. The street is narrow and paved with brick. It turns like a crescent from the point of entrance and has houses on both sides for a square or more in length. There is a temple and a theatre in the street, besides any number of small stores in which all kinds of Egyptian and Arabic ware and handicraft are exposed for sale. The very appearance of the houses, the turbaned natives all around you with their donkeys, camels and a street in Old Vienna, leave no room to doubt your standing on the very soil of Egypt. We were taken to the theatre, which is arranged very much like you hall in this country and enjoyed an entertainment improvised for our benefit. The orchestra consisting of a clarinet, pipe and strings, and a few forms, which sat cross legged like Turks or sailors on sofas on one side of the stage, played a sprightly kind of music with a dull rub-ba-bub accompaniment that fixed itself in my mind as unfortunately, if I may be permitted to say so, as Mark Twain's "Punch, punch with care."

Three young manlike looking girls and one older woman of thirty eight perhaps, occupied the sofa on the other side of the stage. They were dressed in bright colors, having large rings in their ears and many strings of beads in festoon sweeps about their short skirts. Pink, yellow and blue stockings with bead anklets and slippers having high heels, but without the back part of the shoe that in this country is supposed to be indispensable to hold the shoe on the foot, adorned their nether limbs. First one then another would advance to the front of the stage and with their clinking castanets in outstretched hands, they would make very slight movements with their feet, but would keep time with a constant shaking and twitching and jerking of the abdominal muscles, which, to say the least, while novel and interesting, was far from being as graceful and beautiful as travelers and writers of fiction have pictured to my mind. The ladies of the party did not enjoy it at all, and as they supposed it was about on a par with a cheap variety show, they broke up the dance by withdrawing and leaving the Khedive's representative staring in open-eyed amazement at the Kentucky editorial party that could not find delight in the dance of the hours. We were shown through the temple where about a dozen mummies are exposed in their caskets to view. I was informed that all were merely reproductions in wax, excepting one, Ramses II, the oppressor of the Israelites, and one of Egypt's greatest monarchs of ancient times. Among the reproduced mummies were Soimom's sister-in-law and his father-in-law.

The religion of Osiris was then explained to us, and on a chancel three or four girls gave an exhibition of the sacred dance to the tune of music by harps, lyres, pipes and drums. In a dark room, in which the walls were highly ornamented by all kinds of pictures, the hieroglyphics of the ancient natives, we were shown a facsimile of a tomb of one of the earliest priests which has recently been brought to the light of day by the researches of the Egyptologists in digging in the sands along the river Nile. It was difficult in a large crowd to hear all that an Egyptian, who could barely speak the English language, attempted to tell us, but I think I have correctly related here that part of the "Street in Cairo" which I saw and heard. There is a great deal more in the Street to see and study than my limited hop, skip and jump period allowed me to gather. I am not overvaluing the story in the least when I say it took me two days after I left the Street to disillusionize myself in regard to my stay in a foreign land. To see everything in the Midway Plaisance, an official statement has placed the amount for each person at $15.00, but there are many things included in the list which the visitor is almost certain to forego. I would estimate that six dollars would be a very fair sum to expend on this feature of the fair, and that for that amount you can take in the principal foreign scenes, which, after all, are the really interesting attractions to Americans.

Now a moment before I close. If you have time and are fond of military displays, don't fail to go to Tattersalls on 16th and 17th streets to see a picked brigade of Great Britain's army perform their most expert military movements.

See the cyclorama, the "Battle of Gettysburg," also go through the old Libby prison and by no means fail to take in, at the Auditorium theatre, "America," the greatest spectacular performance in the largest and most beautiful theatre of which this part of the country can boast. A seat on the lower floor costs one dollar and a half and on the main gallery, which is but slightly elevated above the stage, one dollar. The audience, 5,000 people and the stage, during the performance, contains four or five hundred people besides horses, chariots and other vehicles.

Summarizing the expense of a week's trip for one person, and placing the railroad fare at the present rate, I would estimate it as follows: Railroad fare, including sleeper or chair car for round trip, $19.30 Loading 7 days at $1.00, 7.00 Boat-meat, two meals and a lunch, 7 days at $1.15, 7.75 If in city proper, car fare to and from grounds 7 days at 20 cents, 1.40 Gate fee 7 days at 50 cents, 3.50 About 5 outings at 25 cents each, 1.25 Lagoon and Intramural rides, about .75 Midway Plaisance about .600 Total $47.35

Of course this makes no provision for any curios or attractions at city theatres or other numerous modes of getting rid of your money in Chicago. I returned on a day train on the Monon road, which has splendid chair cars with complete kitchen and dining attachments that leave nothing to be desired for the comfort or convenience of the passengers. The road smooth and well ballasted and with Mr. Chas. G. Orush as the Louisville Passenger Agent is certain to draw a large share of the travel from this part of the State.

She Committed Suicide.

Mrs. F. C. Cone, at Paris, left this letter: "My husband—Forgive me if I cause you trouble, but I suffer so. You do not know what these long, wakeful, wretched nights are to me, and I am so tired, darling—the pain will never be better. It is not easy to take my own life, but I have been sick so long. Good-bye, my husband. I love you—your wife." This is one of the thousands that gives up, instead of using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, and being speedily cured of their wretchedness. Go to J. W. Taylor and get an elegant book and trial bottle free.

Twenty cents is a small doctor bill, but that is all it will cost you to cure any ordinary case of rheumatism if you use Chamberlain's Pain Balm. Try it and you will be surprised at the prompt relief it affords. The application will quiet the pain. 50 cent bottles for sale by J. W. Gayle, Frankfort, Ky.

Forks of Elkhorn.

Very reasonable.

Home grown vegetables in abundance.

Strawberries past—raspberries present.

Batter plentiful and cheap—eggs scarce and dear.

Spring chickens are in demand at $3 per dozen.

Cherries are scarcer this season than for many years previous.

Hay, barley and wheat harvest now engaging the attention of farmers.

Vegetation of all kinds promises an abundant yield when harvested.

Regular services at Buck Run tomorrow at the usual hours.

Rev. H. C. Calhoun is conducting a protracted meeting at the Christian Church here.

The schools all having closed, teachers and children alike draw a sigh of relief and sit down to rest.

Dr. W. T. Beckner, of this place, and Miss Lizzie Davis, of Shelbyville, were married last Saturday, June 12th.

The happy young couple arrived at this place the same evening, and a hearty welcome awaited them. May their paths be strewn with sweetest flowers and heaven's richest blessing attend them.

Mr. F. H. Himde and family, of Chillicothe, who have been residing in our midst during the past few weeks, have returned home.

Mr. Wm. Wilkerson, who has been in delicate health for many years, remains very feeble.

Miss Blanche Stedman, of Fayette county, has been visiting friends in our midst during the past few weeks.

Mr. H. C. Greenup has so far recovered from his recent illness as to be able to sit up.

Our school picnic last Saturday, held in Mr. J. F. Goddard's grove, proved to be a very enjoyable affair. In consequence of the prevalence of measles in our community, however, many of the children were denied the privilege of attending.

Mr. F. M. Featherston has recovered from his recent illness.

Mess Mattie Lucas is visiting relatives in Woodford county.

Miss Ethel Spicer is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Shanklin, in Cassin county.

Bro. Burdin is engaged in a meeting with his church at Beech Ridge, Shelby county.

Mr. J. S. Lucas, after a siege of many months at law in Frankfort, is recuperating at his father's, near this place.

Mr. J. H. McBride and Mrs. Wm. West, who have each been in delicate health for quite a time, are still very feeble.

Dr. D. C. French, of Midway, has been in our midst this week.

Footpads and Colorado potato bugs have been notoriously absent from this section this season.

Mr. J. F. Goddard has so far recovered from his recent affliction (fractured leg) as to be able to attend to business.

Mr. Jack Wignington, of Scott county, and our burg visit the first of the week.

Some farmers, we understand (not in this immediate vicinity, probably) expect to turn hogs on their wheat in order to realize its full value, the price offered being deemed by them not sufficient to meet the expenses of labor and time expended in producing, otherwise than above mentioned.

Mr. Russell Hughes, who has been sojourning in Ohio for the past three or four months, has returned home.

Messrs. Wm. Ireland and Harvey Tinscher have been attending U. S. Court at Frankfort during the past two weeks, as jurors.

Miss Daisy Hockensmith, of Stamping Ground, is visiting relatives in our vicinity.

Just full of improvements—Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. To begin with, they're the smallest, and the easiest to take. They're tiny, sugar-coated, anti-bilious granules, scarcely larger than mustard seeds. Every old is ready for them.

Then, after they're taken, instead of disturbing and shocking the system, they act in a mild, easy and natural way. They give relief for any reaction afterwards. Their help lasts. Constipation, indigestion, bilious attacks, sick or bilious headaches, and all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels are promptly relieved and permanently cured.

They're put up in glass phials, which keep them always fresh and reliable, unlike the ordinary pills in wooden or pasteboard boxes.

And they're the cheapest pills you can buy for they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned.

You pay only for the good you get.

Peak's Mill.

[DEFERRED MATTER.]

Farmers are about done setting to bacco.

Messrs. Scott and Dinkle, of Frankfort, spent Sunday in our midst.

Mrs. R. T. Penn and daughter, Mrs. C. B. Hayden, spent several days in Cincinnati last week.

Miss Bessie Hayden, of Frankfort, made a flying visit to our town last Sunday.

Mrs. Mary Paradise, of Great Falls, Montana, is visiting her parents at this place.

Mrs. Elizabeth Graham spent several days last week with her brother, Mr. Robert Church, of Tiger.

Mrs. R. B. Gwinn has returned home from a visit of several weeks to friends in Frankfort.

Mr. Frank Compton, a popular young man, who has been engaged in the milling business at this place for some time, and Miss Lillie Haynes, the charming daughter of Mr. James Haynes, were quietly married in Georgetown last Wednesday. After the ceremony a newly-wedded couple went to Indiana where they will reside in the future.

Mrs. Laura Thompson, wife of Mr. D. C. Thompson, who has been ill at the home of her father, Mr. Jesse Hockensmith, at this place, for several weeks, died Wednesday morning. The bereaved and invalid husband has the sympathy of the whole community for himself and the infant son now bereft of a mother's care. The remains were interred in the cemetery at Frankfort.

"QUICK MEAL" GASOLINE STOVES.

The Quick Meal sales in 1891 amounted to 32,542 stoves. The Quick Meal sales store its first appearance on the market run up to 164,560 stoves. The Quick Meal is the only stove which offers absolute safety against accidents. Because the Quick Meal is the only stove having burners that cannot be opened farther than necessary. Because the Quick Meal is the only stove having a tank that cannot be taken off for filling, unless all the burners are closed. Because the Quick Meal is the only stove having an indicator to show when the burners are open or closed. Because the Quick Meal is the only stove having glass tubes to show the dripping of gasoline when the stove is in use. Because the Quick Meal is the only stove having all pipes made of anti-rust material. Because the Quick Meal is the only stove having the means of stopping the burners made of steel man silver, which makes them absolutely inextinguishable. Because the Quick Meal is the only stove having a rim on the cast iron burner top extending over the burner drum and tubes, thus protecting them against the dripping from the cooking vessels.

THE CITY COUNCIL.

Engineer for the Bridge, the Kentucky River Improvement and Normal Training School Considered.

At an adjourned meeting of the city council Tuesday night all the members were present excepting Mr. McClure.

A petition from Mr. Lee Buckley, asking for a rebate of $200 on his assessment was referred to the finance committee.

A petition of M. T. Mitchell for a saloon license at the corner of Mero and Wilkinson street was referred to the license committee.

A petition from Mr. George Huffman for a reduction of his assessment from $1,500 to $1,300 was referred to the finance committee.

Mr. Miles, from the license committee, reported the petition of Sam Luscher for a saloon license, and with it a remonstrance by the citizens of the neighborhood. On motion of Mr. Furr it was returned to the committee with instructions to make an investigation of the complaints.

Mr. Watson presented a communication from Mr. W. H. Murray, Secretary of the Kentucky River Improvement Committee, in regard to the sum necessary to complete the locks and dams to Beattyville. A resolution was adopted, directing the clerk to send a copy to the President, Secretary of War and to each of our Congressmen and Senators.

The following licenses were fixed: W. D. Butcher $10 for groceries; Black & Hughes $70 for selling coal; Hannen & Hursay $40 for carriage and buggy shop.

Mr. J. E. Miles presented a resolution authorizing the bridge committee to employ an engineer to examine the plans, specifications and details now on file, and to supervise the construction of the proposed bridge, to be under the control of the council, to which he will make his reports from time to time. It was adopted unanimously.

Mr. Watson withdrew his resolution appropriating $200 for a Manual Training Department to the city school, and offered instead a resolution that two more names be added to the school committee, who are directed to confer with the school board on the advisability of establishing a manual training school. It was adopted and Mr. James N. Miles and Mr. Chas. Ellwanger were added to the committee.

City Engineer Bailey made a report that he had fixed the grade of the sidewalks on Wilkinson street, from Main to Mero street. It was approved.

The council adjourned until next Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock.

How To Turn in An Alarm.

We are informed that many people who hold keys to the fire alarm boxes have never taken the trouble to inform themselves how to send in an alarm after the box is open. The directions are given plainly in raised letters on the inside of the outer door, viz: "Pull the lever down and let it go," but as most of the alarms are turned in at night when the directions cannot be read, some delay is caused by the ignorance of the key holder. We are informed that when a fire occurred in South Frankfort some time ago, a man who held a key opened an alarm box and shouted into it, as if it were a telephone, "Hello, there's a fire up here at No. —" Now if you hold a key and don't know what to do when you open the box, remember to pull the little lever, which protrudes through the inside door of the box, down and let it go, and the work is done.

All Along the Line

Is heard praise of Dr. Hale's House hold Ointment. Mrs. I. S. Jacob's, of Farmington, Maine, writes that she suffered five years with varicose veins and two running sores on her leg, and was completely cured by its use. D. S. Pillsbury, Salisbury, Vt., writes: "We cannot live without it; it relieves my sister of asthma at once; it cures a burn or a hurt of any kind almost instantly." Under date of May 30, 1902, R. H. Simpson, Le Roy, N. Y., writes: "I used Hale's Ointment for rheumatism three years ago and have not been troubled since. It is the finest ointment in the world for general use. 25c. and 50c. per box. World's Fair and American Railways.

THE QUEEN & CRESCENT ROUTE widely known as the road running the "Finest Trains in the South," is in the field to carry everybody from the South to the World's Fair, at Chicago. No part of the Southern country is left uncared for by this great railway and its connections. The Through Car System is an admirable exposition of the wonderful capabilities of American railroading. From New Orleans through sleeping cars running daily, morning and evening, carrying its passengers to Galveston or Louisville, as they may select.

From Shreveport, Vicksburg and Jackson another through sleeping car line comes into being and becomes a part of the magnificent vestibled through trains, which passing through Birmingham and the famous Wills Valley, of Alabama, is joined at Chattanooga by the train from Jacksonville, Florida, Brunswick and Atlanta, Georgia, over the E. T. V. & G. Ry., and proceeds north over the beautiful Cincinnati Southern, through the grandest natural scenery and most attractive historical country in the world to Ocala, where another magnificent Pullman car is received, coming from the Richmond and Danville system from Charleston, S. C., the Columbia, S. C., the beautiful French Broad country, and Asheville, N. C., and Knoxville, Tennessee.

The time to Chicago is made so easy as to afford the most convenient hours for departures from the principal cities, and arrivals in Chicago.

Passengers can purchase tickets good over one line north of the river, and returning via another if they desire a variable route without extra charge. Or they can go via Cincinnati, returning via Louisville or vice versa.

Round trip tickets on sale at reduced rates. Agents of Chicago line will, on request assist in looking up rooms or accommodation for visitors to the fair.

Everything that an almost perfect system can devise to deserve the praise and patronage of the traveling public has been provided. And the agents of the company named below will cheerfully give all possible information and assistance. R. B. Garrett, New Orleans, La.; J. Hardy, Vicksburg, Miss.; J. R. McGee, Birmingham, Ala.; E. HYPNOTISM AND SPIRITUALISM.

Dr. Robbins, of Cincinnati. Accused of Assaulting a Patient and Mrs. Fanny Gaines Stanton, a Witness to Disprove the Charge.

The Commercial-Gazette, of Cincinnati, on last Saturday, published a long article about the arrest of Dr. A. J. C. Robbins, of that city, who was charged by Mrs. Pohlmeier, with assault and battery committed on her, as alleged, while she was undergoing treatment at his hands for chronic neuralgia. "She says that he told her that the only way in which to cure her ailment was by driving the evil spirits out of her body, and allow the good spirits to take possession. She alleges that he took some kind of a dark-colored ointment or liquid, which he rubbed on her brow with his hands. From that time, she says, she had only a dim and indistinct idea of what occurred, and she only knew that he had complete control of her mind. She says she could not speak, and the liquor penetrated her eyes, blinding her for the time being."

The doctor emphatically denied the charge, and the article closed with the following paragraph in substance:

stantiation of his powers on a patient who, previous to her marriage, lived in this city:

"He is a Spiritualist in belief and he is a firm believer in the ever present being of spirit life. He has a patient now, Mrs. Fanny Stanton, of Frankfort, Ky., daughter of a prominent Kentuckian named Gaines, who is the newly appointed head of a division at Washington under Secretary Carlisle. Mrs. Stanton says she was pronounced a paralytic six months ago by eminent physicians, but that soon after she placed herself under Dr. Robbins' care she began to improve, until she has almost completely recovered and is able to move without assistance. She says that the only treatment pursued was the massage magnetic movement, and that no medicine of any kind was used. She, also, is a Spiritualist."

Completely Uprooted.

How many remedies there are which merely relieve without uprooting disease. The contrast with sterling medicines which such palliatives afford, not only enhances the dignity of the former, but serves to emphasize the folly of employing half-way measures when thorough ones are available. A marked instance of this is the effect, on the one hand, of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters in cases of chill, fever and bilious remittent, and on the other of ordinary remedies in maladies of this type. By the Bitters, bilious complaints in every stage, and of the most malignant type, are completely conquered and lose their hold upon the system. They are rarely, if ever, dislodged by the ordinary resources of medicine, although their symptoms may unquestionably be mitigated through such means. The same holds good of indigestion, biliousness, kidney complaint, rheumatism, nervousness and debility. By the Bitters they are cured when many remedies fail.

Worth Knowing.

Many thousands of people have found a friend in Aunt Fanny's Health Restorer.

If you have never used this great specific for the prevailing malady of the age, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Rheumatism, Constipation, Nervous Exhaustion, Nervous Prostration, Sleeplessness and all diseases arising from derangement of the stomach, liver and kidneys, we would be pleased to give you a package of this great nerve tonic free of charge.

The readers of the ROUNDABOUT will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

BASE BALL.

A Fine Game With Lexington, but the Finest With the Rudolph & Bauers.

Frankforts 6, Lexingtons 4.

One of the finest games of ball ever played at Lake Park took place Monday afternoon, when the Lexington and Frankfort Clubs crossed bats. It was essentially a battle of the pitchers, both McFarland and Conover being in fine trim and had the batters at their mercy. McFarland struck out the Lexingtons in one, two three order in two innings and made one of their heaviest batters fan the air every one of five times that he faced him. Roxy Davis, the old reliable back stop, gave him splendid support, both players watching the bases so closely that not a one was stolen by Lexington.

Henry Lindsey held down first base splendidly, and Sherley Wintersmith played short in his usual fine style and got in a base hit and a two-bagger on Conover. Lindsey Hale had a picnic in center field, as the Lexington batters sent him numerous flies and he accepted six out of seven chances. He also did good stick work.

The Lexington boys are a fine lot of gentlemanly young fellows and strong batters, but could not do much with McFarland's delivery until the sixth inning, when all of their scores were made. Conover was the same effective twirler of last season, securing a record of 15 strike outs to McFarland's 10, and was given fine support by Lou Brown, his catcher. Jeff Brown was as lively as ever at second, but made two errors.

The attendance was very fair and the crowd a good humored one, there being much less geying of players than usual.

Frankfort 2, Rudolph & Bauer 2.

On Thursday the Rudolph & Bauer Club, of Louisville, which claims to be, and probably is, the champion amateur team of that city, came up for their second game with the home club, they having defeated our boys in a game week before last. This contest proved even superior to that of Monday, and was beyond a doubt the finest game ever played in Frankfort. Both McFarland and Ruth had the opposing batters at their mercy, from the second inning to the close of the game, not a run being scored for twelve innings, and it became necessary to call it a draw at the end of the fourteenth inning to enable the visitors to return home on the C. & O. train.

All the runs were made in the second inning, those of the home boys by Capt. "Wicks" Lindsey and H. M. McFarland, who reached the bases on errors, and scored on sacrifices by Hale and N. Lindsey, and those of the visitors by McDonald and Cavanaugh, who made hits and scored two earned runs on Mitchell's hit.

Fine plays abounded on both sides, as the error column will show, and individual mention would include nearly every man in both teams. Only three errors in fourteen innings, with the score a tie from beginning to end, and the excitement at fever heat, is a record that would do credit to professionals, and of which the boys are justly proud.

The visitors made six errors, but as Ruth struck out but one of the home team and McFarland nine of the visitors, the fielding was pretty nearly equal. More hits were made off McFarland than off Ruth, but with the exception of the second inning they were so scattered as to prove useless. Both pitchers were remarkably steady, each giving only one base on balls. Ruth sent two men to base by hitting them and McFarland none.

THE BANQUET. THE CAPITAL NAILED DOWN THURSDAY EVENING

With Speeches and a Royal Spread.

The citizens of Frankfort celebrated their victory in securing the permanent location of the seat of government in this city with a grand banquet at the Capital Hotel, on Thursday night, to which the members of the Legislature and other friends were invited.

The committee having the matter in charge made every arrangement to render the affair a success and called to their assistance the ladies, whose fair hands decorated the large dining-room with bunting, evergreens and potted plants, and the tables with flowers and fern leaves. Covers were laid for two hundred and seventy-five persons, nearly every seat at the long tables was filled, and the Frankfort Orchestra discoursed sweet music while the guests partook of the feast. The following was the Evening, June 22, '93.

1792 1893
Col. E. Polk Johnson presided as toast master and discharged his duties in elegant style. The following were the toasts:

"The Legislature of Kentucky." Responded to by Speaker W. M. Moore.
"The Host of Kentucky Legislature." Responded to by ex-Gov. J. Proctor Knott.
"The Old Commonwealth." Response by Gov. John Young Brown.
"The Ladies—They are not with us, but are Not Forgotten." Response by Hon. Jerry O'Meara, of Hardin county.
"The Star Spangled Banner."—Hon. A. S. Berry, Congressman from the Sixth District.
"Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men"—Hon. Wm. Lindsay, U. S. Senator from Kentucky.

"How do We Pass a Bill."—Hon. Harvey K. Hay, of Boyle county.

"Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight?"—Hon. Jerry South, of Arkansas.

"My Foot is on My Native Heath and My Name is McGregor."—Hon. Thos. S. Pettit, of Daviess county.

"The Purchase."—Senator Henry George, of Hickman county.

"Final Adjournment."—Senator J. W. Downer, of Christian county.

"A General Parting Crack at Creation."—Senator John P. Newman, of Covington.

The banquet was pronounced perfect by all who were present, and when, a few minutes before 2 o'clock yesterday morning, the large company dispersed, there was but one expression of opinion, and that was that Frankfort, being a capital place, was the proper place for the Capital.

THE KENTUCKY RIVER.

A Resolution by the Legislature Looking to the Early Completion of the Improvements to Navigation.

Mr. Thomas S. Pettit, a native of this city, which is proud to acknowledge him as her son, introduced the following resolutions in the House on Saturday, looking to the completion of the Kentucky river improvements to navigation, which is of more real value to the whole Ohio Valley than most any measure now that Congress could act upon, with that end in view:

Be it Resolved by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

1. That the President of the United States, His Excellency, Grover Cleveland, is hereby earnestly requested to direct the Secretary of War to recommend the amount, one million five hundred and twenty-four thousand dollars ($1,524,000) [amount estimated required for the completion of existing project.] the Kentucky river, as is contained in Major Lockwood's report on said river to the Secretary of War to Congress convening December, 1893, in his report to that body concerning River and Harbors.
2. That our Senators, Messrs. Blackburn and Lindsay, are hereby instructed to have incorporated in the River and Harbor bill of the Congress convening in December, 1893, $1,524,000, the full amount estimated to complete the Kentucky river to Beattyville, and that they appear before the River and Harbor Committee and urge the passage of the bill for the immediate completion of the Kentucky river, with all their skill and ability.

3. That each and every representative from this State in Congress are most earnestly requested to appear before the River and Harbor Committee and do all in their power to present Kentucky's claim to said committee in behalf of the immediate improvement of the Kentucky river, and urge the passage of the bill making the appropriation for said purpose. By so doing they will render their State an invaluable service, and be the means of opening up to market the great wealth contained in the 10,000 square miles of the Eastern coal fields, or one-fourth the area of their State that is now comparatively dormant and inaccessible.

4. Copies of these resolutions are to be sent to our Senators and the Kentucky delegation in Congress.
A matter of such vast importance to the material interests of the State, and at a time when the State's wealth of coal and iron has been advertised at the World's Fair by a large appropriation, there should be prompt and unanimous passage of the resolutions in both houses of the General Assembly.

Sketch of the Life of Mr. James Saffell, Who Died Monday at Four Score Years of Age.

Mr. James Saffell, one of the oldest and best known men in this part of the State, died Monday morning about six o'clock. He had been very active in business affairs until the past few years and seemed indeed with a vigor which defied sickness or death. The loss of his wife eleven years ago and of the second or third fortune which he had accumulated during his life, began to make inroads upon his health, and for more than two years past, while able to attend to business duties, he had arrived at that state of debility which foreshadowed his approaching dissolution. A few months ago, to please his relatives, he sat for his picture, with his son James M., his grandson Phyllian and his great granddaughter Frances Taylor Saffell, and Sunday, a week ago, the family, as usual, gathered around him, at the residence of his son-in-law, Judge W. H. Sneed, with whom he had been living for more than a year past, to celebrate the occasion of the anniversary of his eightieth birthday. Friday he fell into a sleep from which he did not awaken excepting to ask for a drink of water.

Mr. Saffell was a native of Anderson county, a son of Joshua Saffell and Elizabeth Middleton. His father died when he was a child, and though the facilities for an education at that early period were very small, it became necessary to remove him from school, and at the age of fifteen, to apprentice him to a cabinet maker. He acquired a fair elementary course at school, however, which with his natural powers of mind and aptitude for business soon led him to success in trading in live stock.

In 1894 he married Miss Martha Todd Hazlett, daughter of William Fulton Hazlett, of Franklin county, and continued to reside at Lawrenceburg until about 1895 when he removed to Frankfort.

About 1899 he bought an interest in the stage line from Lexington to Louisville and later, with Dr. John Witherspoon, finally purchased the entire business, which for thirty-five years proved a lucrative investment to them. In 1899 he established the Cedar Run distillery, a mile from the city on the Lawrenceburg turnpike, and always found a ready and profitable sale for all the whisky he could manufacture.

In 1876 he purchased and conducted the Valley Flour Mill, located on the corner of St. Clair and Wapping streets, the site of which was nothing now. If I don't put my trust in Him in whom can I place it? I believe in Him."

Mr. Saffell had two sons and three daughters who lived to maturity, one daughter Fanny, the wife of the late W. T. Samuel, at one time Auditor of Public Accounts, dying a few years before her mother's death and another daughter, Ann Mary, the wife of Mr. John T. Gray, of Lyndon, Jefferson county, dying about two subsequently sold by him to the United States for the present post-office and court building.

Though not a politician seeking office at the hands of his party, Mr. Saffell was a staunch Republican, whose principles during the war were severely tested. He was an honorable, upright gentleman, zealous in his party's cause, but tempered by his broad charities and expansive views, which commanded the respect of all who knew him and made him one of the most influential and highly esteemed citizens of the county. He was not a member of any church, but had an abiding faith in the mercy and love of the Saviour, which he emphasized in the following terms, several days before his death, when questioned by a minister of the gospel as to whether or not he could put his trust in Christ. The funeral took place Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock at the residence of Judge Sneed, Revs. J. McC. Blayney and E. A. Penick conducting the services.

The pall bearers were R. P. Pepper, Thomas Rodman, sr., Grant Green, sr., Dr. J. S. Collins, Jno. W. Rodman, Jerome Weitzel, sr., G. T. Blackley and Chas. E. Hafl.

A Few Pointers About Chicago.

As a great many readers of the ROUNDABOUT will make their first trip to Chicago during the World's Fair, a few pointers regarding the geography of the city will be appreciated. In the first place fix firmly in your mind that Lake Michigan forms the eastern boundary of the entire city, and if you stand facing the lake with both arms outstretched the left hand will point to the north and the right hand will point straight down the tracks of the Big Four route to the World's Fair buildings, situated at the southern end of the city. Paste this in your hat and you have the key to the entire situation. Coming into Chicago on trains of the Big Four Route, which is the only railroad having an entrance on the south side along the lake front, where all the hotels and boarding houses are located, you will find yourself passing practically through the exposition grounds and a magnificent panoramic view of the fair is obtained.

At the World's Fair station of the Big Four route, if you step off at the right side, you are at the entrance gate to the exposition and can begin "doing" the Fair at once; if you step off on the left side, you will find yourself in the finest resident portion of Chicago, and right in the midst of the World's Fair hotel and boarding house district. The chances are ten to one that you will be within a few minutes' walk of the very place you have selected for your headquarters.

If you prefer to go down town, ten minutes' ride will bring you to the new Twelfth Street station, in the heart of the city. Now bear in mind the manifest advantage of entering Chicago on the Big Four route. In the first place you avoid entirely the bother and trouble of a tedious transfer across the city, which is necessary via all other lines, being landed directly at the exposition grounds, an advantage offered by no other line; and in the second place you can so fix the geography of the city in your mind that you will at once become as familiar with Chicago as you are with your own town.

Another point in favor of the Big Four route is found in the fact that if you enter Cincinnati on the Queen & Crescent route, Louisville & Nashville R.R., Kentucky Central Ry., Chesapeake & Ohio Ry., or Baltimore & Ohio S.W. R.R., connection is made in Union depot, avoiding the disagreeable transfer necessary via all other lines. For full particulars address D. B. MAXEY, General Passenger agent, Cincinnati.
